My organization is a for-profit entity, can I apply for a grant?

All categories of eligible entities are identified in the NOFO. Individual for-profit startups or businesses are not eligible, but EDA recognizes for-profit economic development organizations and science or research parks do exist and may benefit from leveraging RIS funding.

EDA strongly encourages any for-profit organizations that may identify as one of the eligible categories to refer to the examples provided in the NOFO, and then discuss their eligibility with their respective Regional POC or OIE.
What is a public-private partnership and what documents should I submit to EDA to demonstrate my eligibility?

EDA defines a public-private partnership as a relationship formalized by contractual agreement between a public agency, meaning a State, city, or other political subdivision of a State or an agency thereof, and a private-sector entity that reasonably defines the terms of collaboration in the delivery and financing of a public project. EDA will typically review agreements for items such as the purpose and objectives of the partnership, the binding/contractual nature of the relationship, the duties and responsibilities of each party, and the duration of the agreement…..
How do you determine who the co-applicant is and what forms are they required to submit?

If the other entities in question will be partnered with the lead applicant in the management and/or carrying out of the grant, then that entity may be considered a co-applicant. For assistance identifying co-applicants, please reach out to your regional POC.
What if my organization plans to engage a third party that is not a co-applicant to perform a portion of the project activities? Is the third party considered a co-applicant?

If your organization intends to enter into an agreement with a third party to accomplish a portion of a project’s activities, then the third party is not considered a co-applicant. Third parties must be retained pursuant to an open and free competitive process that is in compliance with the Uniform Guidance.
